HAT FURNISHES A CLEW

Charles Dubray, a Civil War Veteran, Was the Victim—Had Lost Way in the Dark and Fell Into Abandoned Pit.

SARANAC LAKE, Nov. 11.—The body of Charles Dubray, a Civil War veteran who disappeared from his home in Standish on November 2, was found by searchers to-day in sixty feet of water in an abandoned mine shaft near Redford. The veteran's hat lying on the ground a few feet from the opening led the party to drag the shaft.

Dubray left the home of a son in Standish to visit another son in Redford, taking with him pension papers and $20. No fear for him was felt when he failed to return, as it was thought he was prolonging his visit. On Sunday the two sons met and the fact that the father was missing came out.

Search was instituted at once and was continued until to-day. The mine shaft was but a short distance from a short-cut path that the old man evidently took, and it is thought he missed the trail in the darkness and stumbled into the pit.

The papers and money were still in Dubray's pockets.
