

BOY IS KILLED GETTING COAL FROM SHALLOW MINE.

Johnstown, Pa., Dec. 29.—Tony Callen, aged 16, was crushed to death at Martindale, near Portage, Cambria county, last evening, while digging for coal to keep his home warm. A 10-year-old brother, in the 20-foot mine, escaped unhurt. The two boys went to a hillside near their home yesterday afternoon. They were digging under rocks when the roof caved in. The younger boy escaped and notified his father, who, with others, dug the body of the dead boy from beneath the rocks.
