

Kansas City man drowns at quarry

De SOTO, Kan. (AP) — A 21-year-old Kansas City, Mo., man drowned over the weekend at an abandoned rock quarry about two miles southeast of De Soto, Johnson County authorities said.

Lt. Carl Foster identified the victim as James P. Lyons. Foster said Lyons' body was recovered by rescue workers about 7:15 a.m. Sunday.

Foster said a friend told deputies that he and Lyons were swimming late Saturday afternoon with a group of about 200 other people when Lyons disappeared in the water. Authorities looked for Lyons until dark before resuming the search early Sunday.