

Swimmer's body found in Redgranite Quarry

REDGRANITE — The body of an Illinois swimmer has been found in the Redgranite Quarry.

Police say the body of Marquis Hough was recovered at about 9:30 a.m. Monday. Authorities began looking for Hough on Sunday afternoon after a report that he went swimming in the quarry and did not resurface. Hough's age was not immediately available.

The incident happened as Redgranite was celebrating a Labor Day festival. Fireworks scheduled for Sunday evening at the quarry were canceled.

This is the third drowning at Redgranite Quarry this year.