Teen who drowned at quarry identified

The 18-year-old man who died Wednesday in a quarry was identified as Fabieri Fabert of Everett, according to the Essex district attorney's office. Police and firefighters responded to a 911 call reporting a missing swimmer at Vernon's Pit quarry in the city's Lanesville area at 1:15 p.m. State Police said Fabert had jumped into the water from a high rock with a friend. The friend returned to the surface, but Fabert did not, State Police said. The city's police and fire departments, along with members of the State Police dive team and divers from the Beverly Fire Department responded to the scene. A State Police helicopter searched from above. Divers found Fabert in the water at 2:49 p.m. and rescuers immediately began performing CPR, the statement said. He was then placed in an ambulance and taken to Addison Gilbert Hospital, where he was pronounced dead, officials said. The teen's death is under investigation, but foul play is not suspected, officials said.
