

St. Louis Boys, 9 and 11, Drown

By The Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—A 40-hour search for Louis Gillen, jr., 9, and his playmate, Alvin Kosulam-dich, 11, ended today when their bodies were found floating in a pond on the Scullin Steel Co grounds.

The bodies were found by an employe of the company on his way to work. Two quarries nearby had been dragged and blasted in the search but the pond was overlooked. The boys disappeared Thursday afternoon.

James Davison, 14-year-old Negro boy was drowned yesterday in an abandoned quarry. Companions said he apparently suffered cramps.
