

Shelby Co. Man Drowns In Quarry

FORT LORAMIE.—The body of Anthony Geise, 68, was found Thursday afternoon in a gravel pit a mile south of this community on Ohio 66.

Shelby County Robert Gearhart said family members, who became concerned when he failed to return home, had launched a search for him. Two of his sons found his body in the water-filled pit, into which he apparently had slipped.

Geise, a retired farmer, drove a school bus at Anna for 10 years. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth; eight sons and a daughter.

Shelby County Coroner Dr. John Marsh said the drowning appeared accidental.
