

The Mine Horror.

The most terrible calamity that has ever befallen the people of this State, visited Newburg in this county, last Thursday afternoon. Thirty-nine persons, ranging in age from 13 to 50 years, stout, hearty, noble fellows, went out in the morning from their happy little homes, and went down hundreds of feet into the mines, never again to behold the light of day. Little did the affectionate old mother, the devoted wives and children, think on that unfortunate morning, that all they would ever see again of sons and husbands and fathers and brothers, would be the charred and mangled remains, that have since been brought up from the black pit of death. The very thought of it, is enough to move the hardest heart to pity. Home, happiness, all that is dear to them, are gone. Besides they are poor and need assistance. "He who gives to the poor lends to the Lord." The people of Kingwood will not, we feel sure, be forgetful of these stricken people. The names of persons who were appointed to receive contributions of of this kind are published in another column, and anything sent to them will be judiciously applied. Let every one send what he feels able to contribute, for "the Lord loves a cheerful giver."
