

FORTY REPORTED KILLED

Awful Explosion at Cumnock Mine This A. M.

AN APPALLING DISASTER

A Terrific Explosion Caused by Gas in the Mine, and Fearful Fatality is Reported.

An explosion occurred in the Langdon-Henezey Coal Company's mines, situated at Cumnock, this morning. Many lives were sacrificed.

This was the substance of the first news received of a terrible mine disaster at the old Egypt coal mine.
The news was obtained from passengers on the Seaboard Air Line, who learned of the disaster at Moncure.

Forty Persons Reported Killed.

Telegrams were fired at different persons in the little mining village, which is situated on a private railroad, fourteen miles from Moncure, and answers were anxiously awaited during the day. Conflicting reports as to the magnitude and extent of the disaster have been circulated. A telegram from a railroad employee at Moncure stated that forty persons were in the mine when the explosion occurred this morning between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, and that all means of connection being shut off, it was impossible to tell how many were numbered among the dead.

Heard a Distance of Fourteen Miles

Mr. H. A. London, editor of the Chatham Record, was a passenger on the train that passed Moncure this morning. The train only stopped a few minutes and he could obtain but very little information regarding the explosion.
Mr. London said that the explosion occured about 8 a. m. and was heard in Moncure very distinctly, a distance of 14 miles. "No one in Mon-cure had authentic news, but it was said that six or eight men were killed.
Nothing was known of the injured or those unaccounted for in the mine Physicians were summoned from all surrounding towns.

It would seem judging from the distance the explosion was heard that every one in the mine must have been killed. It is likely that the entire force was in the mine at work at the time of the catastrophe.

The explosion was caused, supposedly, by gas. Between 30 and 40 miners are entombed and there is scarcely any probability that any have escaped death.

Facts About the Mine.

Cumnock is the name of the town where the mines are situated. Until a few months ago it was named Egypt, but the old Egypt Company was reorganized under the name of The Langdon Henezy Coal Company. Northern capitalists are back of the enterprise. The railroad running from Moncure to Cumnock is controlled by them.

Only North Carolinians are employed as laborers in the mine. The mine is a large one consisting of four tunnels and reached the depth of 450 feet.

Mr. Thomas J. Pence, of the staff of the Press-Visitor, left this afternoon via the Seaboard Air Line train for the scene of the disaster.
