

Iron Ore Crushes Man

PLATTSBURGH, May 4 (AP) — Joseph Garceau, 28, was injured fatally today when a mass of iron ore fell on him in a mine tunnel at Lyon Mountain.

William Linney, general superintendent of the Republic Steel Corp. mine, said Garceau was crushed under 110 pounds of ore, which suddenly tore loose from the tunnel wall near which he was working.

He was brought to a hospital here, but died as he was being lifted from the ambulance.
