

Fire in the Belmont Mine.

A letter received this morning from Wm. Muth at Belmont, says: The Belmont mine caught fire last night at No. 3, and all above that tunnel is probably destroyed. But as it is in the worked out portion of the mine, the loss is inconsiderable—except that there is a doubt of the safety of six men still in the mine. Every effort is being made to relieve them, and we hope no lives are lost. It will result in no stoppage of the mill.”
