

Buried Miner Rescued.

ASHPEMING, Mich., Oct. 19.—Joseph McGrath, the miner who was buried by a fall of timber and ore in the Winthrop mine, was finally rescued alive, but weak and badly hurt. The escape was almost miraculous, as the mass which fell on him weighed many tons. By chance the timbers so fell as to allow him enough air to keep himself alive.

1888 Winthrop miner caught in cave-in rescued

Clipped By:

usmra_rob
Mon, Jan 11, 2021