

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION

A terrible explosion occurred at Ston City Thursday morning in the Fidelity mine, where four men lost their lives, four others cannot recover, and five are badly burned.

The cars in the Fidelity mine are run by electricity. On the first car down in the morning no passengers are supposed to be allowed. This morning fourteen men, eager to get to work, started down with their powder on the first car, when half way down something got the matter with the dynamo, the sparks began to fly, and the explosion followed. Every man on the car was horribly burned, four died before night, five cannot possibly live, and the others are terribly burned.
