

THIRTY-FIVE MINERS MAY PERISH IN FIRE

Lackawanna Mine in a Blaze as Result of Explosion and Miners Cannot be Rescued, Says Message From Tunnels.

WEHRUM, Pa., June 23.—One man is known to be dead and 12 badly burned as a result of an explosion in the mine of the Lackawanna Coal & Coke company today. It is thought the death list will be small.

Fire broke out this afternoon in the mine of the Lackawanna Coal & Coke company, where the explosion occurred this morning. It is feared that 65 entombed men cannot be rescued alive. A telephone message from the mine says three are known to be dead, six fatally burned and 25 seriously injured.