

Miner Doubled Neath Fall.
Stiney Bellsky, of Shamokin, while dressing down coal and rock after a shot had been fired was caught under a rush of coal, and when rescued from underneath the coal his head touched his feet. He was taken to the Shamokin hospital where he is suffering from contusion of the head and abdomen and internal injuries.

1912 Stiney Bellsky rescued from rush of coal at Shamokin mine

Clipp
us
Sun, Ja