

GLEESON MINER WAS INJURED IN CAVE-IN YES- TERDAY

Word received in Tombstone today from Gleeson is to the effect that a miner named Pat Noland was severely injured yesterday in a cave-in in the Silver Belle mine, when tons of earth came down upon him. He was rescued however, by his comrades and brought to the company hospital, where word today was to the effect that he was not expected to live, owing to the severe injuries. No word was received as to how the accident happened and where the blame lies.

1917 Pat Noland rescued from Silver Belle mine cave-in

Clipped By:

usmra_rob

Wed, Feb 24, 2021