

TAKE FOUR MORE DEAD FROM MINE

Rescuers Express No Hope of Saving 22 More in W. Va. Shaft

FAIRMONT, WEST VA., March 21—Removal of four more bodies from the Bethlehem Mine Corporation's mine at Barrackville today brought the total number of dead taken from the property up to eleven.

All were found in the left headway of the property which was the scene of an explosion last Tuesday night entombing 33 miners. Mine officials in a re-check today said there were eleven men in this part of the workings, and that the remaining 22 who are missing, were in the right headway at the time of the blast. Hope that any escaped death has been abandoned.

Finds Brothers Body

Jay Wells, a member of one of the rescue crews, late today found the body of his brother. Wells came here from another camp and did not know that his brother was working at Barrackville until he stumbled across his body.

Searchers tonight continued their exploration of other sections of the mine, and with improved air conditions encountered underground, expected to find additional bodies within a few hours.
