

DEATH TOLL IN MINE TRAGEDY IS NOW SIX

Thomas Smith Dies Result of Explosion in Woodward Mine

The death list in the Woodward mine tragedy reached a total of six when Thomas Smith, 21, of West Wyoming, died yesterday in a hospital. The explosion occurred last Friday in the Woodward mine of the Glen Alden Coal Company, in the upper region.

Three men were killed instantly in the blast and the other three died in hospitals. Various investigations are under way to determine the cause of the blast. Several different versions have been given out, but the authorities have made no definite decision on the cause thus far.