

YOUTH IS RESCUED FROM MINE SHAFT

Plunges Into Opening While At Play; Receives Broken Leg.

Special to The Pittsburgh Press.

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 22.—Suspended on a rock, 80 feet down in an abandoned coal mine, with a pool of water below, William Harrison, 10, was rescued here last night, suffering from a broken leg, cuts and bruises. He was removed to Grove City Hospital.

The boy and a playmate went to the shaft and attempt to throw a heavy club into the hole. A nail in the wood caught in the boy's clothing and caused him to plunge into the opening.

Rescuers worked for more than an hour before bringing the lad to the surface.

1929 William Harrison rescued from abandoned mine

Clipped By:

usmra_rob
Mon, Dec 20,
2021