

MINER IS SAVED AFTER CAVEIN

Shasta County Worker Is Rescued Unhurt After Nine-Hour Battle

REDDING (Shasta Co.), July 31. After nine hours of frantic rescue work, Walter Straight, 47, miner employed in the Menzel Mine on the Iron Mountain Road, walked from the tunnel of the mine last night uninjured. He had been imprisoned in a slide of thousands of tons of broken granite since yesterday morning.

Four workers in the mine, which B. M. Dresser has under lease, immediately started removing the debris, in which Straight was buried shoulder high, and called for help from Iron Mountain.

Morton J. Murphy, Mountain Copper Company superintendent, rushed eight men to the scene and directed the operations. Working in shifts, the miners dug throughout the day, relieved as soon as they became exhausted.

1935 Walter Straight rescued from cave-in after being trapped 9 hrs

Clipped By:

usmra_rob

Thu, Mar 18, 2021