

* * *

RECOVER MINERS' BODIES

LOUISVILLE, Colo., Jan. 21.—(U.P.)—Two more bodies were removed from the wreckage of the Monarch No. 2 coal mine today, making a total of four bodies that have been removed since the fatal explosion early yesterday. The body of Thomas Stephens, 35, mine foreman, was located by the side of one of the mine cars. Near the mine foreman was the body of Oscar Baird, 52, a mine laborer. Both men evidently had attempted to find shelter beside the car, but were killed by "black damp," the poisonous gas which lingers in coal mines.

* * *

1936 Monarch No 2 Mine explosion
NEWS5

Clipped By:
usmra_rob
Apr 29, 2025