

RESCUERS HUNT MORE ENTRAPPED MINERS

Louisville, Colo., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Oxygen-helmeted rescue workers to-day continued their hunt in the wreckage of the Monarch Mine No. 2 for two victims of the mine explosion which occurred early Monday morning.

The bodies of six miners, who were trapped in the mass of debris resulting from the blast, have been recovered since the rescue squads started their work immediately after the explosion.

1936 Monarch No 2 Mine explosion
NEWS6

Clipped By:
usmra_rob
Apr 29, 2025