

Miner Rescued After Being Entombed For Two Hours

Michael Kowalsky, of West Hazleton, a miner at the Gowen colliery of the Buck Mountain Coal Company, was rescued alive yesterday after being buried under a fall of coal for two hours. Hospital attaches said that he walked from an automobile into the Hazleton Hospital. He escaped with abrasions of the face, nose and legs.

1937 Michael Kowalsky rescued from Gowen Colliery cave-in

Clipped By:

usmra_rob

Mon, Mar 22, 2021