

NEARLY ASPHYXIATED

Joseph and John Hudock, Llewellyn brothers, are in the Pottsville Hospital after they barely escaped asphyxiation from black damp yesterday while working in a bootleg coal hole near Forestville. Rescued and revived by their father and other miners, the youths are reported recovering.

1942 Two brothers rescued and revived after near asphyxiation

Clipp
us
Thu, Aug