

Local Man Injured In Fall Down Mine Shaft

Floyd Whittaker is at his Cloverdale home with his back in traction after he was seriously injured at 10:30 p. m. Monday when he fell down a shaft at a mine on the Gevser Road.

He suffered a fractured cervical spine, multiple fractures of the right thumb and contusions and abrasions of the body. He was brought to a local facility and given treatment and then taken to his home and his back put in traction.

1955 Floyd Whittaker rescued after critical injury in fall down mine shaft

Clipped By:

usmra_rob
Tue, Mar 9, 2021