

Gassed Miner Found Alive

Basin experienced another exciting day with all of the miners and business men gathered about the entrance to the Hope tunnel.

Albert Boulware, who went into the mine Saturday with a rescue party and who was overcome by the gas, was not dead as believed. John Berkin and the two Jarve Brothers made the descent, found Boulware and brought him to the surface this morning.

Previous attempts at a rescue of the badly gassed man had proven fruitless.

John Berkin and John Webber were much affected by the gas. Boulware was down in the mine in the gas nearly 19 hours, but doctors say his chances for recovery are good.

1960 Albert Boulware rescued after overcome by gas

Clipped By:

usmra_rob

Wed, Jan 5, 2022