

Two Overcome by Gas, Rescued

THOMPSON FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Jack Arms and Wally Monk were overcome by gas Thursday, then rescued from the bottom of a shaft of the Raven gold mine about eight miles northeast of Thompson Falls.

A blast had been set off Wednesday night. The miners entered the mine Thursday. A third partner, Ralph Provence, discovered that the two had been overcome by gas.

He entered the shaft, attempted to assist them. But he was nearly overcome himself. He shouted for help and two Montana Bureau of Mines employes working nearby and two other men came to their assistance. When Provence first descended, he succeeded in opening an air compressor valve. This was credited with saving their lives.

Bridge and Drydock Co., and the firms have 10 days to file methods of procedure of construction and to start work.

Drowned Transient Search Is Halted

MOSES LAKE, Wash.—Dragging of Moses Lake east of the Alder Street causeway for the body of Albert Flores, Mexican transient laborer missing and presumed drowned Tuesday, have been halted. Fire Chief Chester Rolly said Thursday aft-

1961 Two overcome by gas in Raven gold mine rescued

Clipped By:

usmra_rob

Sun, May 30, 2021