

Car Failure Blamed for Mine Tragedy

EL DORADO (UPI)—Mechanical failure was suspected today for causing an accident at a limestone mine that killed four men in an elevator car which “dropped like a stone.”

A “skip” car carrying the victims broke loose as the men were being lowered to the bottom of a 1,350-foot shaft. The car plummeted the final 500 feet.