

MINER IMPRISONED AT ELLANGOWAN COLLIERY

Rescued, Unhurt, After Eight Hours.

Felix Zegunis, residing at 316½ East Mt. Vernon street, employed as a miner at Ellangowan colliery, had a thrilling experience when he was closed in from one o'clock yesterday afternoon until 9:30 o'clock last night. He was rescued without injury of any kind.

Zegunis is a contract miner and was working in No. 2 rock hole, top split vein, No. 1 counter, west Skidmore plane level. A fall of coal occurred in the pillar hole, middle split, knocking out timber and shutting off his escape. The rock hole was closed above the fall.

The miner's buddy was coming up the manway when the fall occurred. He gave the alarm and in a few minutes officials had a big force of rescuers at work. The work was rushed with all possible speed and at 9:30 o'clock last evening the imprisoned man was released from his perilous position.

First aid corps were on the scene and every preparation made for taking care of Zegunis in case he was injured. He said he was not injured in any way, but exhausted and weakened from his entombment. He was given nourishment and examined by the company surgeon, after which he was taken to his home.

Ellangowan Colliery rescue

Clipped By:

usmra_rob
Fri, Dec 11, 2020