

SAVED FROM A BURNING MINE.

Four Miners Rescued at Hazleton, Pa., This Morning.

(By Associated Press.)

HAZLETON, Pa., Dec. 6.—The fire which broke out in the Crystal Ridge mine last night is still raging furiously, and from present indications the colliery will be destroyed. The four miners who were imprisoned by the fire were found by the rescuing party this morning and taken out safely through an adjoining mine.

The slope from the top to the bottom is now a solid shaft of flame over three hundred yards in length. The timbers in the slope are already showing signs of weakening, and the opening must soon cave in.

Four miners rescued at Hazleton

Clipped By:

usmra_rob
Sat, Dec 26, 2020