BARNES HECKER MINE CATASTROPHE SCENE

Marquette, Nov. 3.-From 40 to 65 men are believed to have drowned when they were caught, about 11:30 this morning, in the third level of the Barnes Hecker mine in the North Lake location eight miles west a quarter of a mile east of the mine shaft.

The cavein left a pit in the surface 300 feet long and 200 feet wide.

The mud and water dropped 600 feet to the first level, and along that level to the shaft and dropped to the bottom of the shaft. The shaft was filled up quickly and the miners were caught on the third level.

All men working in the level were believed to have drowned.

The Barnes Hecker shaft is 1,060 feet deep and at 5 o'clock this afternoon, it was filled with water and mud to a point 225 feet below the surface. From the third level of the Barnes Hecker mine, a tunnel leads to North Lake mine No. 1, 2 miles east, and this tunnel which was the
