

Coal Mine Injuries Kill Woman Operator

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 5.
—Mrs. M. C. Losier, 67, of New Derry, believed to have been the only woman coal operator in Westmoreland County, died today from injuries suffered in a mine roof fall. She had operated the mine since her husband died several years ago, and had been driving a truck and delivering coal.

Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, March 5, 1937