
ENTOMBED MINER RESCUED ALIVE

ASHLAND, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—For three hours today, rescue squads cut away at a barrier of fallen top, behind which Henry Knock, 51, of Lavelle, had been entombed at the Potts colliery here. Knock was found alive and uninjured. Falling timber caused the top to give way and close in the miner on the first lift of the workings.

Reading Times, February 3, 1928