A 59-year-old North Birmingham man was killed Friday in an accident at Sayre mine.

W. L. Allen, assistant Jefferson County coroner, said Norris G. Horsley, 2405 17th-av, n, was dead on arrival at Longview Hospital in Graysville.

Mr. Horsely was checking a malfunction in a coal loading machine at Republic Steel Corp.'s Sayre mine when the hydraulic system on the machine failed and the discharge boom fell on top of him, according to Coroner Allen and company officials.

Horsely was apparently killed instantly, Allen added.
