FIVE CENTS

27 Men Killed In Mine Disaster

Most Harrowing Accident in the History of Indiana County

CORONER'S INQUEST HELD

The disaster which occurred in the Ernest mine No. 2 of the Jefferson & Clearfield Coal & Iron Co., last Friday afternoon, was the most horrible disaster of recent years in the bituminous coal district. Twenty-seven employees lost their lives and five injured, are now in the Indiana hospital. Bodies of nineteen miners were taken from the mine early Saturday morning and brought to Indiana by special train and placed in the care of local undertakers. Seven other were taken out of the mine later and brought to Indiana, making a total of 27 bodies.

The complete list of dead, as given out by the coal company yesterday, follows:

J. William Ball, aged 36, foreman, American, wife and 4 children.

John Connelly, aged 37, American, rock boss, wife and 5 children.

Pompeo Giorgio, aged 22, single.

Giuseppe Stocchi, aged 28, single.

Domenico Panel, aged 30 ...

Antonio Fuzani, single.

Erminio Sigismondi, aged 21, married about one month ago.

Ignaly Valcerensky, aged 40, wife and eight children.

Stanly Valcerensky, aged 22, single.

Steve Fenis, aged 30.

John Tassick, aged 39, wife and 4 children.

Frank Bonchiodi, aged 30, wife and 3 children.

Charles Strandquist, aged 35, mine foreman, single.

Investigation of the accident by the coal company officials and Mine Inspectors Thomas Lowther, of this place, and C. H. Crocker, of Blairsville, showed that Fire Boss Charles Strandquist and Mine Foreman William Ball lost their lives while making the second gas test of the day in the mine. Two examinations of the mine are made daily. The first was completed at 11 o'clock Friday morning and the second test was nearly finished when the explosion occurred, killing all of the company men engaged in making the test.

The seat of the explosion was the fifteenth right room of heading 3 and 4, about a mile and a quarter from the entrance. Ordinarily 43 men worked in this section, but on account of the funeral of one of the crew held in Indiana that day only 30 miners were at work in the room, which lessened the loss of life, as every man on duty in the vicinity of the explosion was killed instantly. The three injured miners in the local hospital were some distance from the heading when the let-go occurred.

B. M. Clark, of Punxsutawney, assistant to President Lucius W. Robinson, said that half a dozen theories as to the cause of the explosion might be advanced, any of which might be correct, but that it is doubtful if investigation, as thorough as it will be, will ever reveal the real cause of the disaster. The mine has a tendency to be gaseous at times, and for this reason extra precautions have always been taken in regard to the daily test for gas.

The Jefferson and Clearfield Coal and Iron Company, with its allied interests, did not take out regular compensation, preferring to conduct an insurance system of its own. Attorney Henry I. Wilson, of Big Run, who has charge of the concern's compensation work, was here conferring with the officials in regard to adjusting the compensation. In commenting on this phase of the accident Mr. Wilson said the disaster will cost the company between $50,000 and $60,000 in compensations.

The greater number of the dead were buried in St. Bernard's Roman Catholic cemetery Monday. An explosion occurred in the same mine six years ago, at which time 11 men lost their lives.

Coal Company Exonerated.

The Jefferson & Clearfield Coal & Iron Co. in whose mine at Ernest the disastrous explosion occurred last Friday evening, was exonerated from all blame connected therewith by the coroner's jury, which conducted the inquest Wednesday afternoon, with Coroner Dr. H. B. Butterbaugh presiding.

The jury also determined that the explosion was due to an unknown cause. The text of the verdict follows:

"That the 27 men came to their death on February 11, 1916, at Inspector's Report about 3:20 p. m. at Ernest Mine No. 2, Ernest, Indiana county, Pa. The deceased came to their death as a result of an explosion of gas in said mine, ignited by some unknown cause.

The coroner's jury was composed of John F. Clements, Josiah Neal, Dr. A. H. Stewart, J. Willis Wilson and Hon. Wilmer H. Wood.

The report of the Commission of Mine Inspectors, the commission being named by J. E. Rodrick, chief of the State Bureau of Mines to comprise Thomas S. Lowther, of Indiana; C. H. Crocker, of Blairsville; Nicholas Evans, of Johnston; T. A. Furness, of Punxsutawney, and C. B. Rhea, of Latrobe, follows:

"That explosive gas that had accumulated on a fall had been driven down off the fall by another caving of the strata above on the two lights of the two men who were working in No. 2 room pillar off 14 1/2 right entry, said lights igniting the explosive gas."

Their report also stated that they had no criticisms to offer concerning the work of the superintendent, mine foreman and assistants, which includes the fire boss, as they had done their work in compliance with the mining laws of the state.

Train Citizens For the Navy

As Many as 2,500 Can Cruise in Warships for $30 Each.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 17.—Secretary Daniels decided today to inaugurate a system of civilian naval training similar to that on which military training camps have been established at Plattburg and elsewhere. It is planned to use six battleships to take 2,500, if that many present themselves, for training for a month's cruise, beginning about August 15. The plan, which was drafted by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, proposes that the cost to the men shall be sufficiently low, not exceeding $30 each, to enable those in moderate circumstances to join. The only compulsory requirement is that each volunteer declare his intention of giving his services to the navy in case of war.

The object of the plan is to establish a naval reserve of civilians
